

Poems to Warm the Heart

Robbie Lee Horton was born a southern gal in Birmingham, Alabama in 1934 to her parents Bob and Nell, and she has an older sister Jean. Perhaps you'll notice the southern charm in the poems she began writing at the tender age of seven. In addition to the gift of writing, Robbie grew up with the entrepreneurial spirit she learned from her dad. After roller skating her way from bronze, silver and gold medals and graduating from professional school, she went on to teach dance skating to others, and then to own skating rinks of her own. In her poems you may recognize a touch of humor that perhaps came from raising six, yes six boys (Tony, Rick, David, Randy, Andy, & Mark). We hope you enjoy reading the poems! Robbie sure loves writing them! This book includes 74 Original Poems - 110 Pages.
